

SETSCO FPA-SAFE AUDITS

What is a FPA-Safe Audit?

The Food Products Association, USA (FPA), previously known as NFPA (National Food Processors Association) is the largest trade association serving the food and beverage industry worldwide. The FPA-SAFE program, spearheaded by FPA was designed by leading food companies to meet the global food industry's audit needs. The FPA-SAFE audit is a combination audit composed of Food Safety and Quality criteria. It is based on a descriptive audit that reviews the Supplier's practices in the areas of quality-related management responsibility, prerequisite programs, Hazard Analysis and Critical Control Point ("HACCP") based food safety systems, production controls, quality management systems and regulatory considerations.

The audits are coordinated by FPA and conducted by independent third party auditors who have been trained and certified by FPA ("SAFE Auditors" or "Auditors").

What are the Benefits of FPA-Safe Audits?

FPA-Safe program offers a broad range of benefits to the entire food industry, including:

- Enhanced and more uniform audit information of Suppliers' food safety and quality systems.
- Elimination of costly, duplicative audits.
- Cost efficiencies for both Customers and Suppliers.
- Establishment of a high-quality training and certification program for auditors.
- Enhanced ability to detect and respond to changing industry trends.
